

Corporate Ethics International

Our 2008 Business Ethics Network (BEN) Conference is October 13-16 in Oakland, CA. The Conference will bring together top corporate campaigners in the country that have succeeded in moving corporations such as Microsoft, Citigroup, The Home Depot, and Philip Morris/Altria to make significant improvements in issue areas including public health, labor, community, and human rights. Highlights include the 2008 BENNY Awards, which honor victories and achievements in corporate campaigning, and which this year include the highest number of nominations we have ever received. Randy Hayes, winner of the 2008 Individual Achievement Award, will speak at the Awards, and keynoters Omar Freilla and Annie Leonard will be featured at the Conference. The Conference includes trainings, panels on on-line organizing, building funder relationships, and NGOs creating good companies. Please visit the BEN Conference pages (<http://www.businessethicsnetwork.org/article.php?list=type&type=344>) to learn more and to register.